

Aiding The Search For The Perfect Putt

Why don't we, as a golf community, work on our putting more? Because it's boring, that's why. Your days of mind-numbing misreads can end, however, with the PuttOUT training aid. Designed to help you in pressure putt situations, PuttOUT has a scientifically shaped parabolic ramp which will only hold "made putts" in a micro-target (and it has to be perfect). Each made putt is returned to the player the same distance it would have gone past the hole had it missed.

$29.99 puttout.golf

Rightys Can Wear These Also

G/FORE is gaining a lot of traction on every professional tour. From unique threads to color-popping gloves, the golf spinoff from parent company Mossimo is stylin'. Worn by Bubba Watson and a fairly popular "Lefty", G/FORE's Gallivanter shoe lineup is a staple with an athletic fit and premium waterproof leather. The IV.O version has an ultra lightweight sole and padded interior.

$185 gfore.com

A Melding From Titleist

Like the forgiveness of the Titleist AP1 irons, but love the sleekness of the AP2? Well, you're in luck. Titleist has successfully mated its two most popular irons and created the lovechild that is the AP3. Titleist claims the AP3 to be its longest and fastest player's iron ever. Hollow-blade construction along with L-Face inserts combine for optimum launch and shotstopping spin. Stock shafts are True Temper AMT Black, available in 3-W.

$185/club (steel), $210/club (graphite) titleist.com

Will This Putter Be The Magic Wand?

Odyssey is widely known as the "No. 1 Putter in Golf" with a slew of designs and a lot of men and women on TV with one in their bags. New for 2018, Odyssey is rolling out their line of O-Works putters which includes the Marxman. A toe hang mallet and available in black or a boisterous red, the Marxman is complete with a chunky sightline. The face on all O-Works putters is co-molded into Odyssey's flagship White Hot insert. Get yourself some big red and start collecting those skins!

$199.99 www.odysseygolf.com

Drivers Get Ever More High-Tech

Cobra Golf seems to enjoy trying new things. With its F7 line, Cobra became the first manufacturer to build a swing analyzer into the grip of every driver. Now, with Cobra's KING F8 lineup, you can find golf's first CNC precision-milled titanium driver face. Cobra boasts that the F8 is thinner, hotter, and more precise. With two adjustable CG settings, the KING F8 has stock shaft options of MRC Tensei CK Blue, Aldila NV 2KXV Blue, or 2KXV Green.

$399 cobragolf.com

A Chip Off The Old Beanbag

Polish sausage? Check. Beverages? Check. Tickets? Check. Just when you thought you had everything for your weekend tailgate, a new necessity arrives in Beer Pong Golf. Pretty self explanatory. Your cherished college pastime meets the game you hate to love, with a hint of corn hole. The Beer Pong boards can be customized with your favorite team and are available to order in singles or doubles, with different options to choose from. Please chip responsibly.

$119 and up www.bp.golf

Papa's Got A Brand New Bag

Who doesn't love something a little retro with a modern twist? Stitch, the company that brought back leather head covers a few years ago, has now resurrected smaller, single strap, single divider golf bags with their SL1. It has the convenience of a stand bag and weighs only 57 ounces. Made from Touring Fabric (similar to the head covers), the SL1 is durable, fully waterproof, and can even be personalized with your initials. Available in carbon white, brushed forest green, brushed navy, and brushed black.

$328 stitchgolf.com

