Mo' Putts
We all know that good putting is paramount when it comes to compiling a good score. An up-and-coming manufacturer to take a look at is the Detroit Putter Company based in the Motor City. This family-owned operation makes some seriously solid flatsticks that can help you roll in more putts. Their M-10 Model is DPC's newest style, which is a mid-mallet design featuring 431 stainless steel and a milled face. They have six distinctive models to choose from, all with a sweet leather headcover. From Motown, to mo' putts going in!

On the Ropes

The new Birdie Putt Rope Hat from Callaway might come in five colorways, but in April it's all about the yellow and green combo. This lid merges a retro design and a contemporary fit for a look that will have you stylin' throughout the spring. $34.99 www.callawaygolf.com

Something for Everyone

Srixon's iron lineup skips no handicap this year, with three different ZXi models to fit your game. The ZXi7 is a true player's iron intended for low handicaps. The ZXi5 is a forgiving yet workable iron for mid handicaps. And the ZXi4 is Srixon's game improvement iron for players looking for launch, distance and forgiveness. All three models can also be blended as a combo set. $1,300 www.us.dunlopsports.com

Layer Up

Chicago's spring temps can be a mystery, particularly morning tee times. Prior planning should include the Terrapin Vest from Turtleson to avoid poor performance. This vest is the perfect balance of lightweight insulation and flexibility to have you swinging freely. If it's part of layering, the Terrapin Vest folds easily into your golf bag. $195 www.turtleson.com

Superior Adaptability

Cobra continues to be a sneaky contender in the driver market with the new DS-Adapt MAX K. Achieving a combined 10,000 MOI, this big stick is tops for stability. Meaning longer, straighter drives even when your game is less than stellar. Available in 9, 10.5, and 12-degree heads and a variety of True Temper and Tensei stock shafts. $549 www.cobragolf.com
